

Criminology 810
Spatial-temporal criminology
School of Criminology, Simon Fraser University
Spring 2017 (Term 1171)

Instructor: Prof. M.A. Andresen

Office: Saywell Hall 10207

Telephone: 778 – 782 – 7628

E-mail: andresen@sfu.ca

Web: <http://www.sfu.ca/~andresen/>

Office Hours: Thursdays 930 am – 1020 am; by appointment

Calendar Description:

An examination of research on crime that considers spatial and temporal dimensions. Subject matter will vary according to instructor interests and specialization. Specific areas of concentration may include: environmental criminology, communities and crime, neighborhoods and crime, ecology of crimes, and crime prevention.

Prerequisite:

This course will proceed with the assumption that students have completed CRIM 800 or an equivalent course. Students are strongly advised to prepare for the course by reviewing undergraduate level environmental criminology readings. See the course outline for CRIM 352 on my web page.

Course Description:

This course covers a detailed analysis of some of the most recent advances in environmental criminology. Both theoretical and empirical research is analyzed throughout the course. The aim of this course is to provide students with the state of the art in environmental criminology covering: new theoretical developments, crime at places, geographic profiling, the crime drop in the 1990s, near repeat analysis, etc.

Course structure:

There is one seminar (3 hours) per week (Thursdays, 130 – 420pm).

Course evaluation:

Weekly Seminar Contributions	30%
Presentations / Reading Analyses	20%
Term Paper (due last day of class)	50%

Textbook:

The required readings (journal articles and book chapters) are available through Canvas or another file sharing medium. You are responsible to download, photocopy, or borrow these readings from the library.

Lecture topics, schedule, and readings:

Topic 1. Introduction to the course and environmental criminology

- Week 1 (05 January)
- Andresen, M.A. (2010). The place of environmental criminology within criminological thought. In M.A. Andresen, P.J. Brantingham, and J.B. Kinney (eds.) Classics in Environmental Criminology. Co-published: Burnaby, BC, SFU Publications and Boca Raton, FL, Taylor & Francis, 5 - 28.

Topic 2. Theory

- Week 3 (19 January)
- Brantingham, P. L. and Brantingham, P. J. (1981b). Notes on the geometry of crime. In P. J. Brantingham and P. L. Brantingham (eds), Environmental criminology (pp. 27 – 54). Prospect Heights IL, Waveland Press.
- Brantingham, P. L., and Brantingham, P. J. (1993a). Nodes, paths and edges: Considerations on the complexity of crime and the physical environment. Journal of Environmental Psychology, 13(1), 3 – 28.
- Cohen, L. E. and Felson, M. (1979). Social change and crime rate trends: A routine activity approach. American Sociological Review, 44(4), 588 – 608.
- Kennedy, L. W. and Forde, D. R. (1990). Routine activities and crime: an analysis of victimization in Canada. Criminology, 28(1), 137 – 152.
- Sampson, R. J. and Groves, W. B. (1989). Community structure and crime: Testing social-disorganization theory. American Journal of Sociology, 94(4), 774 – 802.
- Shaw, C. R. and McKay, H. D. (1942). Juvenile delinquency and urban areas: A study of rates of delinquency in relation to differential characteristics of local communities in American cities. Chicago, IL: University of Chicago Press.

Class Presentations

- Week 14 (06 April)

Term Paper Due: 14 April 2017

ATTENTION STUDENTS WITH A DISABILITY: Please contact the Centre for Students with Disabilities, (MBC 1250 or Phone 778-782-3112) if you need or require assistance, not your individual instructors.

N.B.: Students are reminded that attendance in the first week of classes is important. However, there are no tutorials in the first week.

Assignments not submitted to the Professor/T.A. during class/office hours must be placed in the security box at the School of Criminology General Office (Saywell Hall). The box is emptied Monday to Friday at 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. only and the contents are date stamped accordingly. No other department's date stamp will apply (e.g. Library/Campus Security) and the School of Criminology is not responsible for assignments submitted any other way (e.g. slid under office doors).

E-mail policy: The School of Criminology STRONGLY DISCOURAGES the use of e-mail in lieu of office hour visits. Criminology advises its instructional staff that they are NOT required to respond to student e-mails and that students wishing to confer with them should do so in person during scheduled meeting times.

The University does NOT accept assignments by fax.

The University has formal policies regarding intellectual dishonesty and grade appeals which may be obtained from the General Office of the School of Criminology.

UNIVERSITY POLICY FORBIDS FINAL EXAMINATIONS WHILE CLASSES ARE STILL IN SESSION.
